Dr. James E. O'Neill
Assistant Archivist for Presidential Libraries
FBI Appraisal Project Director
National Archives and Records Service
Washington, D. C. 20408

Dear Dr. O'Neill:

I am writing to propose a resolution of the remaining unsolved issue between our agencies, the disposition of closed FBI asset/informant files.

While I recognize the legal authority of the Archivist over Government records deemed to have historical value, as you know, the paramount concerns of the FBI with regard to its assets/informants are the protection of their confidential relationship with the FBI and their physical security, as well as that of their families and descendents. Some FBI assets/informants and their descendents would be vulnerable to retaliation should their identities be made public. Any premature public disclosure of recruitment and operational methods utilized in the handling of foreign counterintelligence assets would adversely affect our nation's security and would impact on the willingness of individuals to cooperate with the FBI as assets or informants.

Bearing the foregoing in mind, I would like to propose a transfer period for closed FBI asset/informant files to the National Archives and Records Service of 100 years after the asset/informant has been discontinued. Also, FBI asset/informant files, while being administratively transferred to the National Archives and Records Service, should be physically maintained at FBI Headquarters for security reasons.

I would appreciate your views concerning the foregoing in order that our agencies may establish the time period and conditions for the transfer of FBI closed asset/informant files to the National Archives and Records Service.

NOTE: In connection with the civil matter "American Friends Service Committee, et al. v. William H. Webster, et al." USDC, Washington, D. C., Civil Action Number 79-1655, NARS and the FBI were ordered to submit a retention plan and disposition schedules to the Court by 11/9/81. One unresolved issue in both the retention plan and the disposition schedules was the date and conditions for the transfer of FBI informant files to be permanently retained to NARS. The Archivist of the United States has the derivative legal authority from the Administrator of General Services, pursuant to Title 44, USC, Section 2103, to require the FBI to transfer informant files having sufficient historical or other value to warrant continued preservation by the U.S. Government 30 years after their creation. See Mr. Mintz' memo to the Director dated 11/6/81, captioned "American Friends Service Committee, et al. v. William H. Webster, USDC, Washington, D. C., Civil Action Number 79-1655" for background. Instant letter to Dr. O'Neill proposes the transfer of FBI informant files to NARS 100 years after the informant has been discontinued and that, while administratively transferred to NARS, these files be retained in the custody of the FBI.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Dear Dr. O'Neill:

I am writing to request that you dispatch a member of your staff to the FBI Chicago Office to examine 15 boxes of documentary evidence which were voluntarily contributed to the FBI in connection with the case captioned [redacted] et al; Fraud by Wire, Interstate Transportation of Stolen Property." This case involves the kidnapping, robbery and murder of millionaire Henry Podborny of Berwyn, Illinois, on or about January 29, 1981, in Cleveland, Ohio. The FBI Cleveland Office received information that several individuals were attempting to loot Podborny's bank accounts in Chicago. Subsequent investigation by the FBI Chicago and Cleveland Offices resulted in the arrest of [redacted] and four other individuals who were charged locally with murder, kidnapping and robbery. During August, 1981, a personal friend of Podborny's advised that the latter stored various business records in his garage. This individual voluntarily turned over these records to the FBI Chicago Office and the records were subsequently transferred to the FBI Cleveland Office for possible use in the local trial of [redacted] on murder charges. The voluntarily contributed documents were not utilized and were returned to the FBI Chicago Office during November, 1981. During November, 1981, the individual who made aforementioned documentary evidence available to the FBI requested their return inasmuch as he was their legal custodian. On December 4, 1981, Assistant United States Attorney David Stetler, Chicago, Illinois, advised he had no objection to the return of these documents.

Dear Dr. O'Neill:

NATIONAL ARCHIVES AND RECORDS SERVICE

This will confirm delivery on December 16, 1981, of an amended disposition request, consisting of 27 pages, to Dr. Bruce Ambacher of your staff. The amendments were prepared in response to Dr. Ambacher's contacts with me and members of my staff on December 11 and 14, 1981, respectively.

Subsequently, the amended pages were reduced to 24 and Standard Form 115, approved by the Acting Archivist on December 30, 1981, as Job No. NCI-65-82-5, was delivered to my office by Dr. Ambacher on January 4, 1982. Sincerely,

Robert W. Scherrer
Section Chief

W
Mr. Robert Scherrer
Section Chief
Records Management Division
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D.C. 20535

Dear Mr. Scherrer:

ONAYES
In response to the Bureau's request to make an archivist available to review documentary evidence relating to several Chicago Field Office case files, Charles Dollar of the FBI Appraisal Project Staff examined the material in Chicago on January 13, 1982.

The first case file--196A-1151--involves voluntarily contributed business records relating to the investigation of the kidnapping, robbery, and murder of millionaire Henry Podborny of Berwyn, Illinois. Chicago is the auxiliary office for the investigation and the documentary evidence consists of personal business records that were never introduced in the trial of Podborny's murderers. The second case--87E-48601--involves documentary evidence submitted by the American Express Company relating to the investigation and prosecution of several individuals for "raising" the amount of American Express money orders. The documentary materials consist of signature cards and "raised" American Express money orders. Alleged bank fraud is associated with the third case file 29-7737 and the documentary evidence consists of material the Bank of Peterson submitted. The FBI closed this case file after its investigation concluded that poor banking practices rather than fraud were involved.

Under the disposition instructions in the proposed FBI Records Disposition Schedule neither the documentary evidence nor the case files themselves have sufficient research value to warrant preservation in the National Archives. Therefore, the documentary evidence may be returned to interested third parties without duplication. The proposed FBI Records Disposition Schedule will retain a sufficient number of case files in these three classifications to meet the anticipated needs of researchers.

Sincerely,

James E. O'Neill

NARS

Dear Mr. Scherrer:

In response to the Bureau's request of January 5, 1982, to make an archivist available to review documentary evidence relating to a case originating in the Salt Lake City field office, [redacted] reviewed the materials at the Bureau on January 19, 1982.

The case file, [redacted] Doing Business as Interwest Sandblasting Co., Inc. Fraud Against the Government - Department of Labor (False Payroll Reports), consists of one serial with an accompanying letterhead memorandum and 21 items of documentary evidence. Under the proposed disposition instructions, this case file would be disposable. The documentary evidence is routine miscellaneous materials (interviews, correspondence, cancelled checks, company payroll books, and a bound volume of specifications or guidelines for project contractors) that may be returned to the Department of Labor or to third parties or destroyed as appropriate.

Sincerely,

James E. O'Neill

Dear Dr. O'Neill:

I am writing to request that you dispatch a member of your staff to the FBI Chicago Office to examine 15 boxes of documentary evidence which were voluntarily contributed to the FBI in connection with the case captioned [redacted] et al; Fraud by Wire, Interstate Transportation of Stolen Property." This case involves the kidnapping, robbery and murder of millionaire Henry Podborny of Berwyn, Illinois, on or about January 29, 1981, in Cleveland, Ohio. The FBI Cleveland Office received information that several individuals were attempting to loot Podborny's bank accounts in Chicago. Subsequent investigation by the FBI Chicago and Cleveland Offices resulted in the arrest of [redacted] and four other individuals who were charged locally with murder, kidnapping and robbery. During August, 1981, a personal friend of Podborny's advised that the latter stored various business records in his garage. This individual voluntarily turned over these records to the FBI Chicago Office and the records were subsequently transferred to the FBI Cleveland Office for possible use in the local trial of [redacted] on murder charges. The voluntarily contributed documents were not utilized and were returned to the FBI Chicago Office during November, 1981. During November, 1981, the individual who made aforementioned documentary evidence available to the FBI requested their return inasmuch as he was their legal custodian. On December 4, 1981, Assistant United States Attorney David Stetler, Chicago, Illinois, advised he had no objection to the return of these documents.

DETAILS: On 2/3/82, Mr. Edwin A. Thompson, Director, Records Declassification Division, NARS, advised that his organization and the State Department were preparing to begin a new records accession project. Mr. Thompson explained that all State Department records created during the period January 1, 1950 through December 31, 1954, would be reviewed by Archives personnel for classified documents. Those documents which were not classified based on State Department guidelines and which had FBI information would be referred to the Bureau for classification determination. Mr. Thompson stated that the project was anticipated to take at least four years to complete.

As you know, the Classification Appeals Unit is responsible for processing of FBI information in documents in NARS possession. It is anticipated that this project will require one Document Classification Specialist one day a week until completion.

Dear Dr. O'Neill:

In connection with the August 26, 1981, Order of U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene in the civil matter "American Friends Service Committee, et al. v. William H. Webster, et al," Civil Action Number 79-1655, U.S. District Court, Washington, D. C., I request that you assign an archivist to the Washington Field Office to review documentary evidence in two cases which the owners and/or contributors requested be returned.

The first case, captioned "Phillips P. Dulaney, President, Free State Builders, Inc., Alexandria, Virginia; Fraud Against the Government-General Services Administration," is related to the investigation of wide-spread corruption within the Public Building Services of the General Services Administration (GSA), Washington, D. C. During the course of the investigation, the GSA Inspector General's Office voluntarily furnished hundreds of contract documents to the Washington Field Office. On January 11, 1982, the Assistant United States Attorney declined prosecution in favor of referring this matter to the GSA for civil and administrative action. GSA has requested the return of the documents so that civil litigation may be undertaken with the assistance of the Civil Division of the Department of Justice. The Assistant United States Attorney concurs that that aforementioned records should be returned to GSA. The Washington Field Office Case Agent handling this matter is Special Agent

The second case, captioned "Former United States Representative Charles J. Carney, 19th District of Ohio; William G. Lyden, Jr., President of Lyden Oil Company, Youngstown, Ohio; Bribery," pertains to a two-year investigation and culminated in the trial of former Congressman Carney, which resulted in a directed verdict of acquittal on November 20, 1961. During the course of this investigation, the Washington Field Office obtained over 2,000 books from the Library of Congress. The Library of Congress has requested that these books be returned. The attorney at the U.S. Department of Justice Public Integrity Section who handled this investigation concurs that the books should be returned to the Library of Congress.

Please let me know of your decision in this matter so that I can coordinate this matter with the Washington Field Office.

awash in sea of paper

In addition to agents, guns and James Bond-type gadgets, the Federal Bureau of Investigation has a whole lot of filing cabinets stuffed full of reports.

There is so much paper, in fact, it takes up an estimated 300,000 cubic feet of space, costing taxpayers close to $7 per cubic foot, according to Dr. Gerald Haines, visiting assistant professor of history at the University of Texas at San Antonio.

Clearly, the FBI is bogged in an incredible sea of paper, not only at national headquarters in Washington, D.C., but also in its 57 field offices.

Suits filed

The situation became apparent following suits against the FBI filed by various activist groups claiming mass destruction of sensitive records. To determine the validity of the charge, the courts ordered the FBI to cease destroying anything and an investigation team was formed.

Haines was among the 17 people who probed the files. He is currently on leave of absence from the National Archives.

Haines said what the investigation team found was amazing. Information uncovered was both funny and frightening. Memos from J. Edgar Hoover, former director of the FBI, gave fascinating insight into both the man and the operation.

Hoover apparently ruled with an iron fist on all matters regardless of importance. For instance, he was the only one allowed to use blue ink, and he insisted all memos to his office have two-inch margins providing him plenty of space for comments.

Illegal aliens

An agent in Albuquerque, N.M., sent Hoover a memo detailing problems with illegal aliens crossing over from Mexico. The memo's margins were only one inch wide.

Hoover, upset at this disregard of official procedure, returned the memo to the agent marked "Watch your borders!" The agent, misinterpreting, initiated a $3 million program to beef up security along the Mexican border.

Other files were less humorous. The FBI kept a file, inoperative since 1974, of people suspected to be communists. In the event of open hostilities with Russia, these people were to be placed in concentration camps, much like Japanese-Americans during World War II.

Field offices

In addition to checking files in headquarters, the team of experts looked at records kept in 11 of the field offices. It was hoped the bureau could destroy most field office reports, with those in headquarters providing adequate information. That, however, was not the case.

There's some unique information in the field offices," Haines said. "Take, for example, the events in Chicago during the 1968 Democratic convention. The Chicago field office is a wonderful source of information on local leftist movements. While some of the main points are filed in headquarters, the field office records are much more detailed and therefore important to maintain."

After the investigation, which lasted 18 months, the team prepared a 680-page report for the court. They recommended a statistical sample of cases be kept in order to illustrate the types involved, yet allow the majority of the material to be disposed.

25-30 percent

The team also recommended the FBI keep 25-30 percent of its paper files. While that might not seem like a lot, Haines points out most federal agencies are required to keep only between 3 to 5 percent of their records.

"The FBI is such a unique source of information on American history and cultural background," Haines said. "That's why we recommended such a large increase."

Now in the hands of the courts, the way has been paved to eliminate at least a little of the overwhelming paper and expense bogging down the FBI.

The purpose of this airtel is to provide the current status of the civil matter American Friends Service Committee, et al. v. William H. Webster, et al., U.S. District Court, Washington, D. C., Civil Action Number 79-1655.

You will recall that U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene, the presiding Judge in the above-mentioned civil action, issued an Opinion and Order on 1/10/80, which preliminarily enjoined the FBI from destroying FBI records, pending approval by the Court of a detailed NARS retention plan and FBI disposition schedule for FBI records in accordance with Federal Records Management Statutes.

Subsequent Orders were issued by Judge Greene on 6/9/81, 7/28/81, and 8/26/81, concerning the disposition of documentary evidence retained by the FBI. ReButel summarized the aforementioned Orders and set forth appropriate instructions to the field.

FEB 26 1982

In order to develop a NARS retention plan and FBI disposition schedule for FBI records, an extensive review of FBIHQ and field records by NARS was instituted in February, 1981. In addition to a detailed review of FBIHQ records, NARS archivists, accompanied by senior Records Management Division (RMD) analysts, visited eight FBI field offices and the FBI Academy, where a volume of records were also reviewed. NARS advised that the review of FBI records was the most extensive, comprehensive undertaking ever conducted of Government records. NARS estimated that approximately $750,000 in personnel and material expenses have been dedicated to captioned appraisal. As of 1/5/82, 738 FBI employees directly participated in the appraisal at a cost totaling $344,442.03.

The NARS retention plan and FBI disposition schedule for FBI records were submitted, as ordered, to the Court on 11/9/81, and are presently under consideration by Judge Greene. It is anticipated that Judge Greene will schedule hearings at a future date, at which time the plaintiffs will be given an opportunity to articulate their position concerning the retention plan and disposition schedule. Judge Greene is expected to issue an opinion regarding the acceptability of the retention plan and disposition schedule subsequent to the hearings.

You will be promptly advised of additional developments in captioned matter. You should continue to follow instructions contained in reButel with regard to the disposition of documentary evidence. All questions related to instant matter should be referred to SA R. W. Scherrer, Section Chief, Records Systems Section, RMD.

NOTE: Field is being informed of the current status of the above-mentioned civil matter. Content of instant airtel was coordinated by RMD with the Legal Counsel Division.

Dear Dr. O'Neill:

Pursuant to the August 26, 1981, Order of U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene in the civil matter American Friends Service Committee, et al. v. William H. Webster, et al. Civil Action Number 79-1655, U.S. District Court, Washington, D. C., I request that you assign an archivist to examine documentary evidence forwarded to FBIHQ by the FBI Cincinnati Office.

CHECK CASES

Washington Field Office frequently receives original worthless checks from banks and corporations. These submissions are unsolicited.

Washington Field Office is adopting a policy with regard to those checks which either do not represent a violation of Federal law or do not reach the threshold of Federal prosecutive guidelines, to wit, such checks will be returned to the contributors once xerographic copies have been made for Washington Field Office files. Failure to return such original checks would impede investigations by appropriate agencies.

Dear Dr. O'Neill:

TL Pursuant to the August 26, 1981, Order of U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene in the civil matter American Friends Service Committee, et al. v. William H. Webster, et al., U.S. District Court, Washington, D. C., Civil Action Number 79-1655, I request that you assign an archivist to review several items of documentary evidence, which were forwarded to FBI Headquarters by the FBI Jackson Office.

The documentary evidence forwarded to FBI Headquarters is listed below:

- 1) Bank statements and cancelled checks of [redacted] as voluntarily provided by her during the investigation of captioned matter.
- 2) Bank statements and cancelled checks of [redacted] boyfriend of [redacted] [redacted] as voluntarily provided by him during investigation of captioned matter.

The above described documentary evidence is related to the case captioned [redacted] Former Bookkeeper, Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, Belzoni, Mississippi; Bank Fraud and Embezzlement" (Jackson file number 29B-968; FBI Headquarters file number 29-90623). Investigation revealed that during 1979 [redacted] who was employed as a bookkeeper at the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, Belzoni, Mississippi, embezzled funds and deposited them directly into her personal account and into the account of her common-law husband, [redacted]. Dr. James E. O'Neill
Assistant Archivist for Presidential Libraries
FBI Appraisal Project Director

Washington, D. C. 20408

Dear Dr. O'Neill:

Pursuant to the August 26, 1981, Order of U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene in the civil matter "American Friends Service Committee, et al. v. William H. Webster, et al." U.S. District Court, Washington, D.C., Civil Action Number 79-1655, I request that you make an archivist available to the FBI Los Angeles Office to review a volume of documentary evidence consisting of video tapes of copyrighted film.

The case involved is captioned "Home Video Center, 8907 Warner Avenue, Huntington Beach, California; Copyright Matter" (Los Angeles file number 28D-8082).

By way of background, on July 29, 1981, Special Agents of the FBI executed a search warrant at the Home Video Center and seized 419 video cassettes which had been illegally produced in violation of U.S. Copyright laws. These video cassettes consist of movie titles such as "Nine to Five", "Caddyshack", "Breaking Glass", "Coal Miner's Daughter", "The Jerk", "Going in Style", "Fame" and "2001 Space Odyssey", all of which are in wide circulation and in film libraries of the movie industry. Accordingly there appears to be no historical value to any of the 419 video cassettes seized. These video cassettes are stored in the Bulky Exhibit Section at FBI Los Angeles Headquarters where there is a critical space problem. The Assistant U. S. Attorney, Los Angeles, has declined prosecution in this matter and the owner of the Home Video Center has authorized the destruction of all video cassetts being held by the FBI Los Angeles Office.

Dear Mr. Scherrer:

In response to the Bureau's requests of February 22, 1982, and March 1, 1982, to make an archivist available to review documentary material relating to cases originating in the Tampa and Cincinnati field offices, I examined the materials at the Bureau on March 4, 1982.

The documentary material relating to the Tampa case file (29C-2878) consists of three video tape recordings obtained from closed circuit television cameras installed in and by the Exchange Bank and Trust Company, Tampa. The case file itself is disposable under the proposed Records Disposition Schedule. The video tape recordings lack sufficient evidential or informational value to warrant permanent retention and may be returned to the Exchange Bank and Trust.

The documentary material relating to the Cincinnati case (209B-83) consists of two investigatory files of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) relating to Medicare fraud investigations. They contain routine documents (such as bills, records of payment, and audit reports). The Bureau's case file itself is disposable under the proposed Records Disposition Schedule. The HHS investigatory files are official records of that agency and may be returned to HHS for whatever further legal or administrative actions it may choose to take and for eventual disposition in accordance with that agency's approved records disposition program.

Dear Mr. Scherrer:

In response to the Bureau's request of January 26, 1982, to make an archivist available to review material relating to two cases investigated by the Washington field office, I examined the materials at that field office on March 5, 1982.

The first case (WFO case file number 46-11052) relates to the investigation of former Congressman Charles J. Carney. The related material consists of 24 boxes of books from the Surplus Duplicate program of the Library of Congress. The case file itself may well be retained as an Exceptional Case under the proposed Records Disposition Schedule. However, the books lack sufficient evidential, informational, or other value to warrant permanent retention. They may be returned to their rightful owner, presumably the Library of Congress.

The second case (WFO case file 208-48) concerns the investigation of [redacted] and Free State Builders, Inc. The related material comprises contract files, Inspector General reports, and related documents of the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA). It consists of routine contractual and investigative documents. The Bureau's case file itself is disposable under the proposed Records Disposition Schedule. The GSA material, however, comprises official records of that agency and may be returned to GSA for whatever further legal, investigative, or administrative actions it may choose to take and for eventual disposition in accordance with that agency's approved records disposition program.

Sincerely,

JAMES E. O'NEILL

ORIGINAL ARCHIVED RECORDS SECTION

Subject, while employed at the above bank as a bookkeeper, embezzled approximately $8,000, from depositors accounts or the bank holding accounts. She accomplished this by preparing charge or withdrawal tickets to these accounts and then transferred these monies into her own account by preparing deposit tickets to her account in like amounts. She then wrote checks on her own account to withdraw these monies.

The original withdrawal and deposit tickets, where available, were obtained from the bank and used in the successful prosecution of subject. The bank requested that these original documents be returned after completion of the investigation and prosecution.

On 3/17/82, these original documents were returned to the bank. Xerox copies of each were retained by the Cincinnati Division.
